1. Purpose

This document sets out the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission's (SRCC) objectives and principles guiding its regulation of self-insured licensees. This includes the SRCC's approach to monitoring self-insured licensees through licence commencement / on-boarding phase of transitioning into the scheme and then, after an initial two-year period, the ongoing regulation of an established licensee. This includes monitoring licensee:

- compliance with its conditions of licence
- performance against the standards set by the SRCC in the areas of claims management, rehabilitation and prevention.

2. Background

The Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act) provides a workers' compensation scheme for Australian Government agencies and self-insured licensees granted a licence by the SRCC.

In 2014, the SRCC undertook a review of its model for oversight and regulation of self-insured licensees. As a result of the review, the SRCC agreed the revised oversight and regulation model set out in this document.

This document has been developed to replace all policies, procedures and model documents previously used by the SRCC and to provide a single document, setting out the entire oversight and regulation model of the SRCC for use by Commissioners, Comcare, self-insured licensees, potential licence applicants and other interested parties including health and safety representatives and unions.

Roles of the SRCC

The roles of the SRCC under the SRC Act and the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 (WHS Act) can be described as:

- ensuring, as far as practicable, there is 'equity of outcomes' resulting from administrative practices and procedures used by Comcare and a licensee in the performance of their respective functions
- the issuing authority and regulator of self-insurance licences under the SRC Act (includes the setting of licence fees)
- an entity able to issue guidelines to Comcare or licensees about their (Comcare or the licensees) powers and functions
- an entity providing guidelines on the setting of premiums and a review point (if required) for employers' premium and regulatory contribution determinations
- providing a forum for consultation between Comcare and persons conducting businesses or undertakings (PCBU), workers and the bodies that represent them on WHS Act matters
- providing advice to the Minister about the operation of the SRC Act or the powers and functions of the SRCC and on the administration and the most effective means of giving effect to the objects of the WHS Act, and
- an entity able to do anything necessary or convenient to do in the performance of their functions under the legislation.

Items to note from the SRCC's role.

- The SRCC is not the regulator of rehabilitation under the SRC Act (see the role of Comcare below), however the SRCC is required to satisfy itself that:
  - licence applicants have the capacity to meet the standards set by the SRCC for the rehabilitation of the applicant's employees
  - the applicant will, if licensed, meet the standards set by the SRCC for rehabilitation of the applicant's employees.

Apart from its function to act as a forum on work health and safety matters, the SRCC has no powers under the WHS Act and is not a regulator under that legislation (see the role of Comcare below) however the SRCC is required to satisfy itself that:

- licence applicants have the capacity to meet the standards set by the SRCC for the prevention of injury, illness or disease the applicant's employees.

Therefore, there is no direct line of responsibility from the SRCC to non-licensee employers in the Comcare scheme under the current role except as part of a second review of a premium determination (for premium paying employers) or as part of a forum for consultation between Comcare and PCBU's, workers and the bodies that represent them under the WHS Act.

The SRCC makes its decisions and takes actions in relation to the granting and ongoing management of self-insurance licences under Part VIII of the SRC Act.

Legally, the SRCC forms part of the Commonwealth.

The SRCC is not covered by the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act 2013 (that is, the SRCC is not a non-corporate Commonwealth entity or a corporate Commonwealth entity).

Roles of Comcare<sup>1</sup>

The roles of Comcare under the SRC Act and the WHS Act can be described as:

- Regulating PCBU's and workers in the WHS Act jurisdiction (includes functions of information sharing, advice and fostering relationships between duty holders, workers, and their representatives).
- Claims and liability management for premium paying employers in the workers' compensation scheme established under the SRC Act (including the setting and collecting of premiums). This incorporates Comcare's role as an insurer and fund manager given it has the power to apply these premiums to meet Comcare's liability and claims management costs.
- Regulating rehabilitation and rehabilitation program providers for use in the workers' compensation scheme established under the SRC Act, encompassing premium-paying employers and licensees.
- Undertaking and promoting research for rehabilitation and work health and safety (including the publication of research and data) across Comcare's functions under the SRC Act and WHS Act. Note: Comcare has powers related to cooperating across different organisations and sharing information.
- Setting and collecting regulatory contributions for participants in the workers' compensation scheme under the SRC Act and the WHS Act jurisdiction, other than for licensees.
- Supporting the SRCC in its functions under the Acts and in relation to licensees (covering application, approval, relationship management, ongoing review of compliance with licence conditions and the collection of licence fees).
- Promoting and providing education services relating to the SRC Act and the WHS Act.
- Advising the Minister about Comcare's functions and powers under the SRC Act and the operation and effectiveness of the WHS Act.

<sup>1</sup> Comcare's role in supporting the Seacare Authority or in asbestos related claims has not been covered in this document.

Roles relating to self-insured licences

The SRCC

The SRCC is the issuing authority and regulator of self-insurance licences under the SRC Act. The SRCC can do anything necessary or convenient to do in the performance of this function under the legislation.

Comcare

Under the SRC Act, Comcare provides support to the SRCC for its functions relating to self-insured licensees (covering support for processes including application, approval, relationship management, ongoing review of compliance with licence conditions and the collection of licence fees).

Self-insured licensees

Under the SRC Act self-insured licensees are required to:

- pay compensation or other amounts under the Act and make those payments accurately and quickly to their employees who are injured
- determine claims accurately and quickly and to take all necessary action in respect of the subsequent management of those claims
- maintain contact with the SRCC and with Comcare to ensure that, as far as practicable there is equity of outcomes resulting from administrative practices and procedures used by Comcare and the licensee in the performance of their respective functions
- do anything and to meet any obligation, the doing or meeting of which is incidental to the performance of their authority to pay compensation or other amounts or manage claims under the Act and that would be required of Comcare (as claims manager for the Australian Public Service) if Comcare had responsibility for the performance of the functions; and
- comply with the conditions to which the licence is subject including any performance standards set by the SRCC.

3. Key documents overview

The diagram below sets out the framework for the self-insurance licensee oversight and regulation functions of the SRCC.

A standard licence template including conditions the SRCC may impose is at Attachment A.

4. SRCC objective and principles

The SRCC's objective in performing its oversight and regulation of self-insured licensee functions under the SRC Act is:

To have optimal processes and tools through which the SRCC can fulfil its obligations for proper and effective oversight of licensees.

To achieve this objective, and in line with Australian Government policy, the SRCC has established the following principles.

1. Continuous improvement and building trust

The SRCC is committed to continuous improvement and building and maintaining trust with all stakeholders.

To achieve this the SRCC has committed to being:

- Accountable — explaining decisions and providing avenues for feedback, complaints or appeals which are responded to in a timely fashion.
- Flexible — encouraging flexibility to achieve outcomes, including an integrated approach to work health and safety, rehabilitation, and claims management.
- Consistent and proportionate — ensuring that decision making is consistent and proportionate considering the particular circumstances.
- Lawful — requiring compliance with relevant laws.
- Transparent — ensuring that regulatory decisions demonstrate balance, impartiality, and integrity.
- Cost effective and efficient — ensuring that regulation is necessary and that it is delivered in the most effective and efficient manner.

2. Risk-based and data driven

The SRCC recognises the importance of regulation being risk-based and data driven. The SRCC has committed to the following to achieve this:

- A systems-based approach to regulation — applying a flexible, consistent, and proportionate systems-based approach directed to the attainment of desired outcomes, rather than meeting specified process requirements.
- Data driven — using available data to monitor performance and support regulatory decision making.

3. Collaboration and engagement

The SRCC acknowledges that regulators need to be transparent and responsive, implementing regulation in a modern and collaborative way. To achieve this, the SRCC will be:

- Contemporary — reviewing, monitoring, and updating policies and practices, including clearly defined corporate governance arrangements, to ensure the regulatory framework remains contemporary and relevant.
- Consultative — encouraging effective consultation and collaboration with, and participation by, all stakeholders which includes workers and their representatives.

5. Oversight and Regulation Model

The diagram below sets out the SRCC's oversight and regulation model for self-insured licensees. Note: the first column (column A) is not covered in this document as it is covered in separate licence application and assessment documents and policies.

---	---	--

The SRCC considers self-insured licensees work through two phases during the eight-year licence period.

1. The developing/transitioning phase (the time immediately following the initial granting of a licence and up to two years into the total licence period).
2. The established licensee phase (the time following the developing / transitioning phase of the licence and the time following any extension of licence beyond the initial granting of licence).

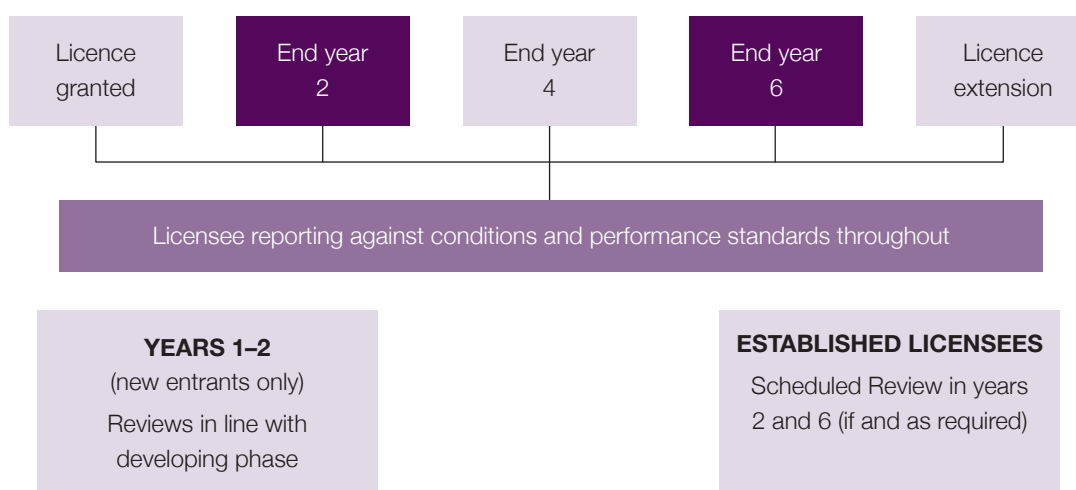

In both phases, licensees are required to comply with their licence conditions and achieve results that meet the performance standards and measures set by the SRCC.

The developing/transitioning phase involves licensees participating in, and being subject to, reviews in this initial period of licence to ensure that a licensee can meet the conditions of licence and performance standards set by the SRCC. The SRCC uses this initial period to determine whether any additional conditions or requirements should be placed on a licensee. The SRCC may choose to lessen the extensive reviews in the developing / transitioning phase where a licensee can evidence strong, consistent results against compliance and performance requirements.

The established licensee phase is designed for those licensees who are consistently compliant with licence conditions and meeting performance standards. A scheduled review may be conducted at the six-year mark of the licence period and years two and six of an extension, to further test a licensee's compliance and performance.

In both phases, the SRCC can, at any time, determine that due to compliance reporting or performance results that a regulatory response is required. The status of a licensee (that is, what phase it is in) does not inhibit the SRCC from taking action to address a compliance or performance issue.

The diagram below reflects the standard timeline for a new licence and the different phases.

Note: a licence extension for a further eight years will allow for a review at the two-year and six-year marks if deemed required by the SRCC.

6. Licence condition compliance

The SRCC's power to grant licences and set licence conditions

Under the SRC Act, the SRCC may grant a licence to entities enabling them to accept liability for, and/or manage workers' compensation claims for their employees included in the scope of the licence.

The SRCC uses a template licence document to do this. The licence sets out:

- the scope of the licence (to cover all or some of its employees)
- general conditions of licence
- prudential conditions of licence
- any other special conditions of licence the SRCC considers appropriate for a licensee.

The SRCC's power to issue licences and other ancillary powers are set out in Part VIII of the SRC Act.

How do licensees comply with their licence conditions?

Generally, licensees comply with the conditions of licence by producing information, material, or products at set times, or by ensuring its organisation does something by a set time.

The table below sets out the conditions of licence, what a licensee must do to comply with the licence conditions and the frequency of actions.

Condition	What the licensee must do	Frequency

Note: The table sets out the standard conditions and licensees can be subject to special conditions particular to the licensee at any time.

Monitoring compliance

Comcare provides support to the SRCC under the SRC Act. On behalf of the SRCC, Comcare receives information, material or products from licensees, or otherwise monitors a licensee's compliance with its licence conditions. Comcare's Self Insurance team perform this function.

Items that require annual certification by licensees will be reported on as part of each licensee's annual Licensee Compliance and Performance Improvement (LCPI) Report (previously known as LIP Report) to be provided to the SRCC. The template LCPI report is at Attachment B. Historically, LCPI Reports have been provided by 31 March each year however, the SRCC or licensees may request a different annual reporting cycle, noting that it is at the discretion of the SRCC to endorse the request.

For reviews conducted for developing/transitioning phase licensees against licence conditions, or where established licensees are subject to a review, these reviews are provided to Comcare for inclusion in reporting provided to the SRCC. Copies of the reviews are available to Commissioners once finalised.

The SRCC has agreed a prudential and financial framework (refer Attachment C) for assessing compliance with the prudential licence conditions. Note that licensee prudential and financial performance is assessed as part of the SRCC's performance standards.

Comcare assesses or records the licensee information, material or actions and reports to the SRCC annually, quarterly or on an as required basis in line with the table above.

Comcare reports on licensee compliance with licence conditions in the report format set out at Attachment D to this document. The SRCC can request extra information or source documents used by Comcare to complete a report at any time. The SRCC is bound by 'confidentiality of information' requirements in all information that it collects.

Non-compliance

Where Comcare, in its support role of the SRCC, detects that a licensee is non-compliant with its licence conditions, it will advise the licensee that it is required to resolve the issue in a timely manner. Non-compliances will be reported to the SRCC at its quarterly meetings or otherwise as appropriate, e.g. if a major breach occurred, it would be reported to the SRCC immediately. If the non-compliance cannot be resolved; the same or a related non-compliance is detected for two or more consecutive relevant periods (a relevant period refers to the frequency of compliance required (e.g. as needed, monthly, quarterly or annually); or there is a trend of non-compliance generally, Comcare will report the situation to the SRCC for action or potential regulatory response (refer section 9).

Licensees will be given the opportunity to respond or provide further information to the SRCC as part of Comcare's report.

7. Licensee performance standards and measures

The SRCC sets performance standards and measures as a base level of performance and encourages improvement in the claims, rehabilitation, and prevention performance of licensees. The SRCC has set performance indicators across several areas for licensees to meet. Targets can be used by the SRCC to further encourage improvement in licensee performance.

How do licensees report performance?

For most performance indicators the claims data provided by licensees under its conditions of licence allow analysis that produces a licensee's result against a particular indicator.

For some indicators, licensees are required to produce further information or data at set times. In addition, some indicators require an external firm or consultant, independent of the licensee (which may include Comcare), to provide information or a report prepared by the firm or consultant assessing the licensee's performance.

Monitoring and assessing performance

As with licence condition compliance, Comcare provides support to the SRCC in receiving, collating and assessing licensee performance information. Comcare's Self Insurance team perform this function.

Items that require annual certification by licensees will be reported on as part of each licensee's annual Licensee Compliance and Performance Improvement (LCPI) Report to be provided to the SRCC. The template LCPI report is at Attachment B. Historically, LCPI Reports have been provided by 31 March each year however, licensees may request a different annual reporting cycle.

For reviews conducted for developing/transitioning phase licensees, or where established licensees are subject to a review, these reviews are provided to Comcare for inclusion in reporting provided to the SRCC as they relate to performance standards. Copies of the reviews are available to all SRCC members once finalised.

Comcare assesses or records the licensee information, material or actions and reports to the SRCC annually, quarterly or on an as required basis in line with the table above.

Importantly, licensee performance monitoring uses a risk assessment against each performance area as an overall indicator of performance of the licensee and whether any further action is required. Comcare conducts this assessment against criteria and parameters set by the SRCC. The assessment draws on licensee results against licence conditions compliance and other performance indicators and reports relating to licensees.

Attachment E sets out the methodology agreed by the SRCC (and used by Comcare) to assess licensee performance.

Comcare reports licensee performance in the report format set out at Attachment D to this document. The SRCC can request extra information or source documents used by Comcare to complete a report at any time.

Poor performance results

Where Comcare, in its support role of the SRCC, detects that a licensee has not met the required performance standards, it will liaise with the licensee to verify the result and advise the licensee that it is required to resolve the issue in a timely manner. Performance results will be reported to the SRCC at its quarterly meetings or otherwise as appropriate. If the performance result cannot be explained or poor performance is detected for two relevant consecutive periods (a relevant period refers to the most relevant period for performance assessment e.g. ad hoc, monthly, quarterly or annually), Comcare will report the situation to the SRCC for action or potential regulatory response (refer section 9).

Licensees will be given the opportunity to respond or provide further information to the SRCC as part of Comcare's report.

8. Risk Management – Changes to a licensee's risk profile

The SRCC takes a risk-based approach to the regulation of licensees, in line with its obligations under the Regulator Performance Resource Management Guide (December 2022).

Under the standard conditions of licence (condition 25), licensees are required to advise the SRCC in writing of any change which may affect its compliance with its licence including, but not limited to, changes in its employee numbers or a significant change in the risk profile of the work undertaken by its employees.

The SRCC considers that a change in the risk profile for the purposes of the above would result in the introduction of new or heightened risk (through, for example, the licensee entering into industries, conducting activities, or introducing new occupations) not considered when:

- the licensee was first declared eligible for a licence under section 100 of the SRC Act;
- the licence was granted or extended under section 103 of the SRC Act, with specific reference to those factors set out in section 104(2) of the SRC Act.

If the licensee is not sure of whether or not a change should be notified, they should discuss this with their Account Manager.

Where a licensee advises of a change in its employee numbers or significant change in the risk profile of the work undertaken by its employees (which may be through, for example, merger or acquisition), an initial assessment will be conducted by the Comcare Account Manager who will, based on evidence provided by the licensee, consider and confirm:

- the timing of the merger or transfer;
- the number of FTE to be brought under the licence – and, if greater than 10%, advise that an updated liability report will be required to determine whether a new guarantee is also required;
- details of the work to be conducted, particularly whether it introduces new activities that have not previously been undertaken by that licensee and therefore increasing the licensee's risk profile;
- how the licensee intends on mitigating any newly identified risks associated with the transfer;
- that consultation/information provision requirements have been, or will be met; and
- for those licensees covered by the Commonwealth WHS Act, whether the change has the potential of the licensee moving into an industry where the Commonwealth has limited/lesser regulatory oversight than that of the relevant States/Territories.

The outcome of the assessment will be provided to the SRCC for its consideration in line with its regulatory model and, should it have concerns or require a greater level of assurance, it may consider further action or a potential regulatory response (refer section 9).

Licensees will be given the opportunity to respond or provide further information in relation to any further issues or concerns raised by the SRCC in its consideration of Comcare's assessment.

9. SRCC regulatory response framework

Under the SRC Act, the SRCC can exercise a range of responses to non-compliance, significant changes in a licensee's risk profile or poor performance by a licensee.

- Section 105 provides that the SRCC may vary the scope of a licence or extend its term (the SRCC's policy on extension of a licence is in Attachment F).
- Section 106 gives the SRCC power to revoke or suspend a licence where it considers it appropriate to do so. Section 106(2) sets out that the SRCC must follow such procedures, if any, as set out in Ministerial Directions (the SRCC's policy on suspension or revocation of a licence is in Attachment G).
- Section 108D(2) provides that the SRCC, at any time while a licence is in force, may vary the conditions to which the licence is subject by notice in writing given to the Licensee (the SRCC's policy on variation of a licence is in Attachment H).

It is expected that licensees will seek to rectify voluntarily any breaches of the conditions of licence, significant changes in risk profile (as set out in Risk Management – Changes to a licensee's risk profile), or any performance issues raised by the SRCC as soon as possible. This includes early notification to the SRCC of what the issue is, how the licensee is addressing it and the when the issue will be rectified.

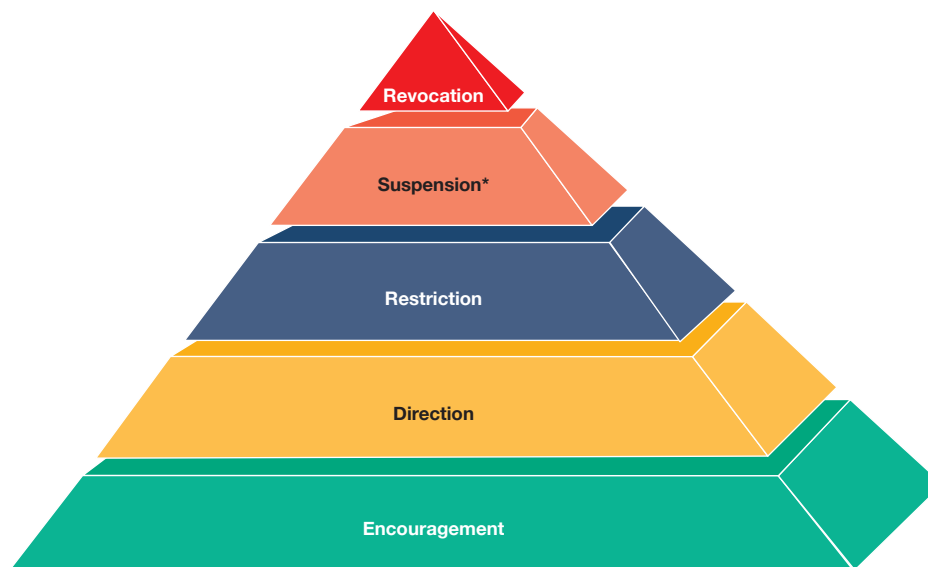

The SRCC's principles of regulation, included in this document, guide the approach the SRCC will take to any regulatory response.

A staged approach

Where the SRCC considers that a regulatory response may be appropriate, the following set of staged responses will be considered by the SRCC.<sup>2</sup> The benefits of a set of graduated responses include that the SRCC is able to impose a response that is proportionate to the risk, escalate or de-escalate regulatory action, and minimise the costs associated with a response.

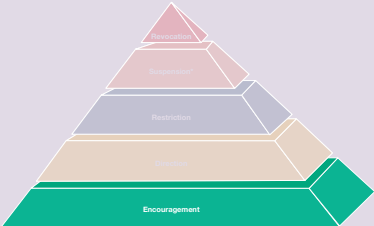

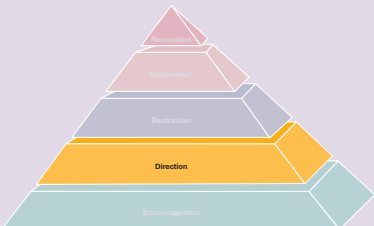

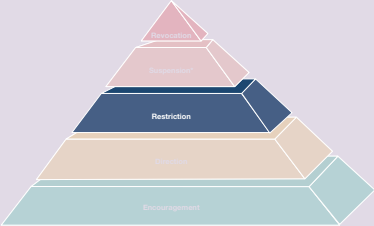

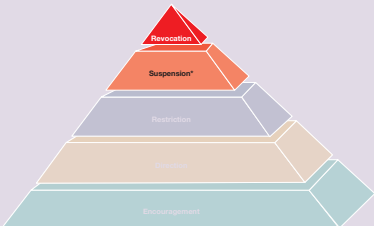

Once the SRCC has identified that there is a problem, in the normal course of events, the licensee would be notified of the issue in writing and given an opportunity to resolve the problem. Depending on the circumstances this communication may be undertaken by Comcare acting on behalf of the SRCC. At all stages, the SRCC will seek to be open with an affected licensee and inform, in writing, of regulatory decisions that may impact the licensee.

At any point during the process, it is open to an affected licensee to make written representations to the SRCC regarding the matters in question, and the appropriateness and effectiveness of the SRCC's proposed regulatory response.

*The SRCC can only suspend the licence of a current or former Commonwealth Authority (currently only Australia Post, Australian National University, ACT Government and Reserve Bank).

The 'Encouragement' layer at the base is highlighted in green.	Encouragement focuses on education and voluntary compliance. This would usually be undertaken by Comcare, on behalf of the SRCC, and may include activities such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• interaction between the relevant Comcare Account Manager and the licensee</li> <li>• Comcare Executive Level meeting with the licensee</li> <li>• information and presentations provided by the relevant areas within Comcare</li> <li>• sending a letter requesting an action or information (either from Comcare or the SRCC)</li> <li>• Where Comcare observes multiple or sustained consecutive poor performance results against the Licensee Performance Standards and Measures, the Account Manager would normally request evidence of contextual information, corrective action plans and their implementation to verify claims, and report these to the SRCC.</li> </ul> The SRCC may also consider publishing de-identified or aggregated information on concerns or trends identified with one or more licensees identified at the Encouragement stage.
2. Direction  A pyramid diagram with five horizontal layers. From top to bottom, the layers are labeled: 'Revocation', 'Suspension*', 'Restriction', 'Direction', and 'Encouragement'. The 'Direction' layer is highlighted in orange.	The SRCC activities in the direction category could encompass: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• issuing a letter of statutory warning to the principal officer</li> <li>• issuing a letter requesting information (such as a report)</li> <li>• inviting the principal officer of the licensee to attend a meeting of the SRCC (or part thereof) to provide relevant information and to respond to any SRCC enquiries</li> <li>• visiting a licensee to better inform itself and discuss any performance concerns before issuing any direction</li> <li>• directing an action such as a targeted review and/or investigation be undertaken to address the issue.</li> </ul> The SRCC may also consider publishing information on its actions at the Direction stage on the SRCC's website or in the SRCC's Annual Report. Note any breaches of licence will be reported in the SRCC's Annual Report.
3. Restriction  A pyramid diagram with five horizontal layers. From top to bottom, the layers are labeled: 'Revocation', 'Suspension*', 'Restriction', 'Direction', and 'Encouragement'. The 'Restriction' layer is highlighted in dark blue.	In the restriction category, the SRCC may consider such things as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• reviewing and amending the licence of a licensee by varying the conditions of licence under section 108D(2) of the SRC Act to remove or add specific conditions.</li> <li>• where the SRCC considers it appropriate to do so, the SRCC may consider extending licences for a shorter period of time than the usual eight-year period.</li> </ul>
It is at the SRCC's discretion to undertake a simultaneous mix of the actions identified above in the encouragement, direction, and restriction categories, depending on the breach or issue. Using a combination of these steps is likely to communicate the seriousness with which the SRCC views non-compliance or poor performance.
4. Revocation or Suspension  A pyramid diagram with five horizontal layers. From top to bottom, the layers are labeled: 'Revocation', 'Suspension*', 'Restriction', 'Direction', and 'Encouragement'. The 'Revocation' layer at the top is highlighted in red.	The SRCC will usually only consider revocation or suspension of a licence for serious or systemic issues, or where a licensee has resisted or been unable to achieve voluntary compliance. Note the SRCC can only suspend (not revoke) the licence of a current or former Commonwealth Authority. The SRCC will seek to resolve any non-conformance through means other than suspension or revocation.

Delegations

When considering responses to non-compliance or poor performance by a licensee the SRCC may, at any point and on a case-by-case basis, consider delegating an action or function to:

- a sub-set of the SRCC;
- a specific Commissioner; or
- the Comcare CEO.

As part of any decision to delegate an action or function the SRCC will agree the period for the delegation and mechanism/timeframes for review.

Targeted review methodology

Overview

A targeted review is one of the options open to the SRCC as part of its staged approach to regulation should ongoing issues be identified, with an individual licensee, through the performance assessment methodology (Attachment E) that cannot be explained or resolved. The regulatory response flow chart (Attachment I) and guidance, has assisted in developing a methodology for what the elements of a targeted review may entail, noting that flexibility will be required. As no two performance issues will necessarily be the same, it is therefore difficult to develop a prescriptive or all-encompassing framework that sets out exactly what a targeted review may contain against each of the performance standards and measures.

The SRCC may request a targeted review of a licensee as part of its response to a compliance or performance issue. A targeted review will normally follow the provision of contextual information by a licensee about an issue and potentially an information request by the SRCC about the issue.

The SRCC may make specific recommendations about the scope of any targeted reviews.

Developing a targeted review

If a performance assessment rating reaches the level of RED (in the performance standard ratings in the quarterly reports) as identified through the SRCC's Performance Assessment Methodology (Attachment E) and the contextual information provided by the licensee fails to satisfy the SRCC, the regulatory response framework may invoke a targeted review. Comcare would put recommendations to the SRCC.

The aim of a targeted review is to:

- determine the extent of non-conformance
- identify specific avenues to improve performance
- be satisfied that ultimately the performance issue will be resolved.

A targeted review can be designed to:

- test the accuracy of information a licensee has provided to the SRCC
- specifically target an area of a licensee's claims management, rehabilitation, or prevention operations
- identify and assess underlying issues or drivers behind poor performance.

The review will have a clear objective of what the review needs to achieve.

A single or mix of activities such as: a desktop audit to ensure quality; file reviews; targeted system audit (file or site specific and limited to only those criteria that could assist with the issue identified); or a data quality review could be recommended.

Examples of some of these actions, listed against the Performance Standards and Measures are set out below.

Targeted Review – Regulatory Actions Guidance Performance Standards and Measures Consecutive unexplained non-compliance/failure
Corrective actions	If the identified issue is in relation to a management systems audit and cannot be resolved through the information request.	May require claim or rehabilitation file review or targeted audit of function using relevant criteria.
Incident rate of all (accepted) claims	Depending on the nature of the performance issue.	May warrant including any relevant audit criteria, look at safety climate, prevention/safety plans etc.
Incident rate of all (accepted) claims reaching one week of incapacity	Depending on the nature of the performance issue.	May warrant including any relevant audit criteria, look at safety climate, prevention/safety plans etc.
Rehabilitation – Return to work performance (Return to work rate)	Depending on the nature of the performance issue.	Relevant criteria from the rehabilitation management systems tool may be assessed. Resourcing etc.
Claims management – established systems that enable timely and accurate payments to injured workers	Depending on issue.	Some elements of claims management audit tool may be relevant, including potential file or systems reviews. Look at resourcing. Requiring licensee to undertake a data quality assessment.
Decisions are timely	Information request should seek to identify the reasons to the delay in decision making.	Any review would focus on resourcing, system issues and the interaction between the licensee and relevant providers. Some elements of the claims and rehabilitation systems audit tools may be relevant.
Safety climate	Information request will depend on the way in which the licensee seeks to address this requirement e.g. system audit, safety culture survey tool, etc.	Any targeted review would be linked to the corrective action measures with a focus on actions being taken and expected outcomes/ measurements to identify whether those actions have been effective.

Timing of a targeted review

Consideration will also be given to the timing of the targeted review in line with any scheduled reviews in year two and year six.

Who conducts targeted reviews

Different skill sets will be needed depending on the recommendations in relation to each review. When a review is proposed for the SRCC's agreement, a recommendation will be made about who should conduct the review.

As a guide, any review that recommends that a licensee be tested against some or all the criteria within an audit tool will require the appropriate skills and expertise. Comcare may, on behalf of the SRCC, source an external suitably qualified person to conduct the review, the cost of which will be recovered through licence fees.

The SRCC could also determine that the review be undertaken by Comcare, should Comcare have the capacity at that time, or that the licensee itself source an independent person to conduct the review.

Outcomes from targeted review

At the conclusion of a targeted review a short report will be produced. The report should:

- i) set out findings from the review clearly addressing the objective set for the review;
- ii) identify corrective actions or areas for improvement with set timeframes for implementation; and
- iii) include consultation with the relevant licensee on the outcomes and recommendations to the SRCC.

Any disputes over findings would be considered in line with the SRCC's dispute resolution process (see section 10). Refer to the Flow Chart if the issues are not resolved.

Scheduled reviews

The aim of scheduled reviews is for the SRCC to:

- take a holistic look at performance in preceding years to identify whether there are any areas that may require more in-depth analysis or contextual information across all licensees that are in years 2 or 6 of licence (e.g. data quality reviews)
- identify concerns that it wants to verify across all licensees as they reach years 2 and 6 of licence.

The SRCC's Years 2 and 6 Scheduled Review Methodology is at Attachment J.

Cost Recovery

In addition to the above, the SRCC's cost recovery arrangements operate so that licensees who are non-compliant or who perform poorly, consistently, will experience increases in their licence fees due to the additional time the SRCC (or Comcare or contracted resources) spend considering the licensee's compliance and performance results and any remedial actions.

Consultation process

When Comcare becomes aware that the SRCC may consider exercising its statutory powers to direct, restrict, suspend or revoke as set out in this section, the SRCC, licensee and Comcare will observe the following consultation process:

- (a) Comcare, on behalf of the SRCC, will consult with the affected licensee(s) on the matters identified by the SRCC and provide an opportunity for feedback. Note that the SRCC may request Comcare to notify relevant Unions and/or the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Licensees Association of the nature of the concern as well.
- (b) Licensees will consult on the matters identified by the SRCC with affected employees and relevant unions as required by the conditions of licence and any specific SRCC requirements.
- (c) Parties will be afforded a minimum timeframe of 14 days to respond unless the parties agree otherwise.
- (d) Licensees will advise Comcare of the outcome of consultation with employees and relevant unions.
- (e) Comcare will prepare a paper for the SRCC including details and analysis of the consultation undertaken.
- (f) Licensee(s) will be given the opportunity to respond or provide further information to the SRCC as part of Comcare's report.
- (g) Following consideration of the paper by the SRCC, Comcare will advise the licensee(s) of the decision within 24 hours of the meeting, followed by a written decision from the SRCC as soon as possible.

Note that this consultation process applies to the SRCC's monitoring of licence condition compliance and performance standards by licensees. Where the SRCC intends to issue guidelines or use any other statutory power under the SRC Act, consultation with stakeholders will occur in accordance with the agreed procedures for such activities.

10. Dispute resolution process

Dispute resolution process

This section sets out the process for managing disputes that may arise under this Licence Compliance and Performance Model document. There are two dispute types.

1. Situations where licensees dispute Comcare's assessment of licensee compliance or performance under this document, and
2. Situations where licensees dispute the decision of the SRCC.

Disputes with Comcare's assessment of Licensee compliance or performance

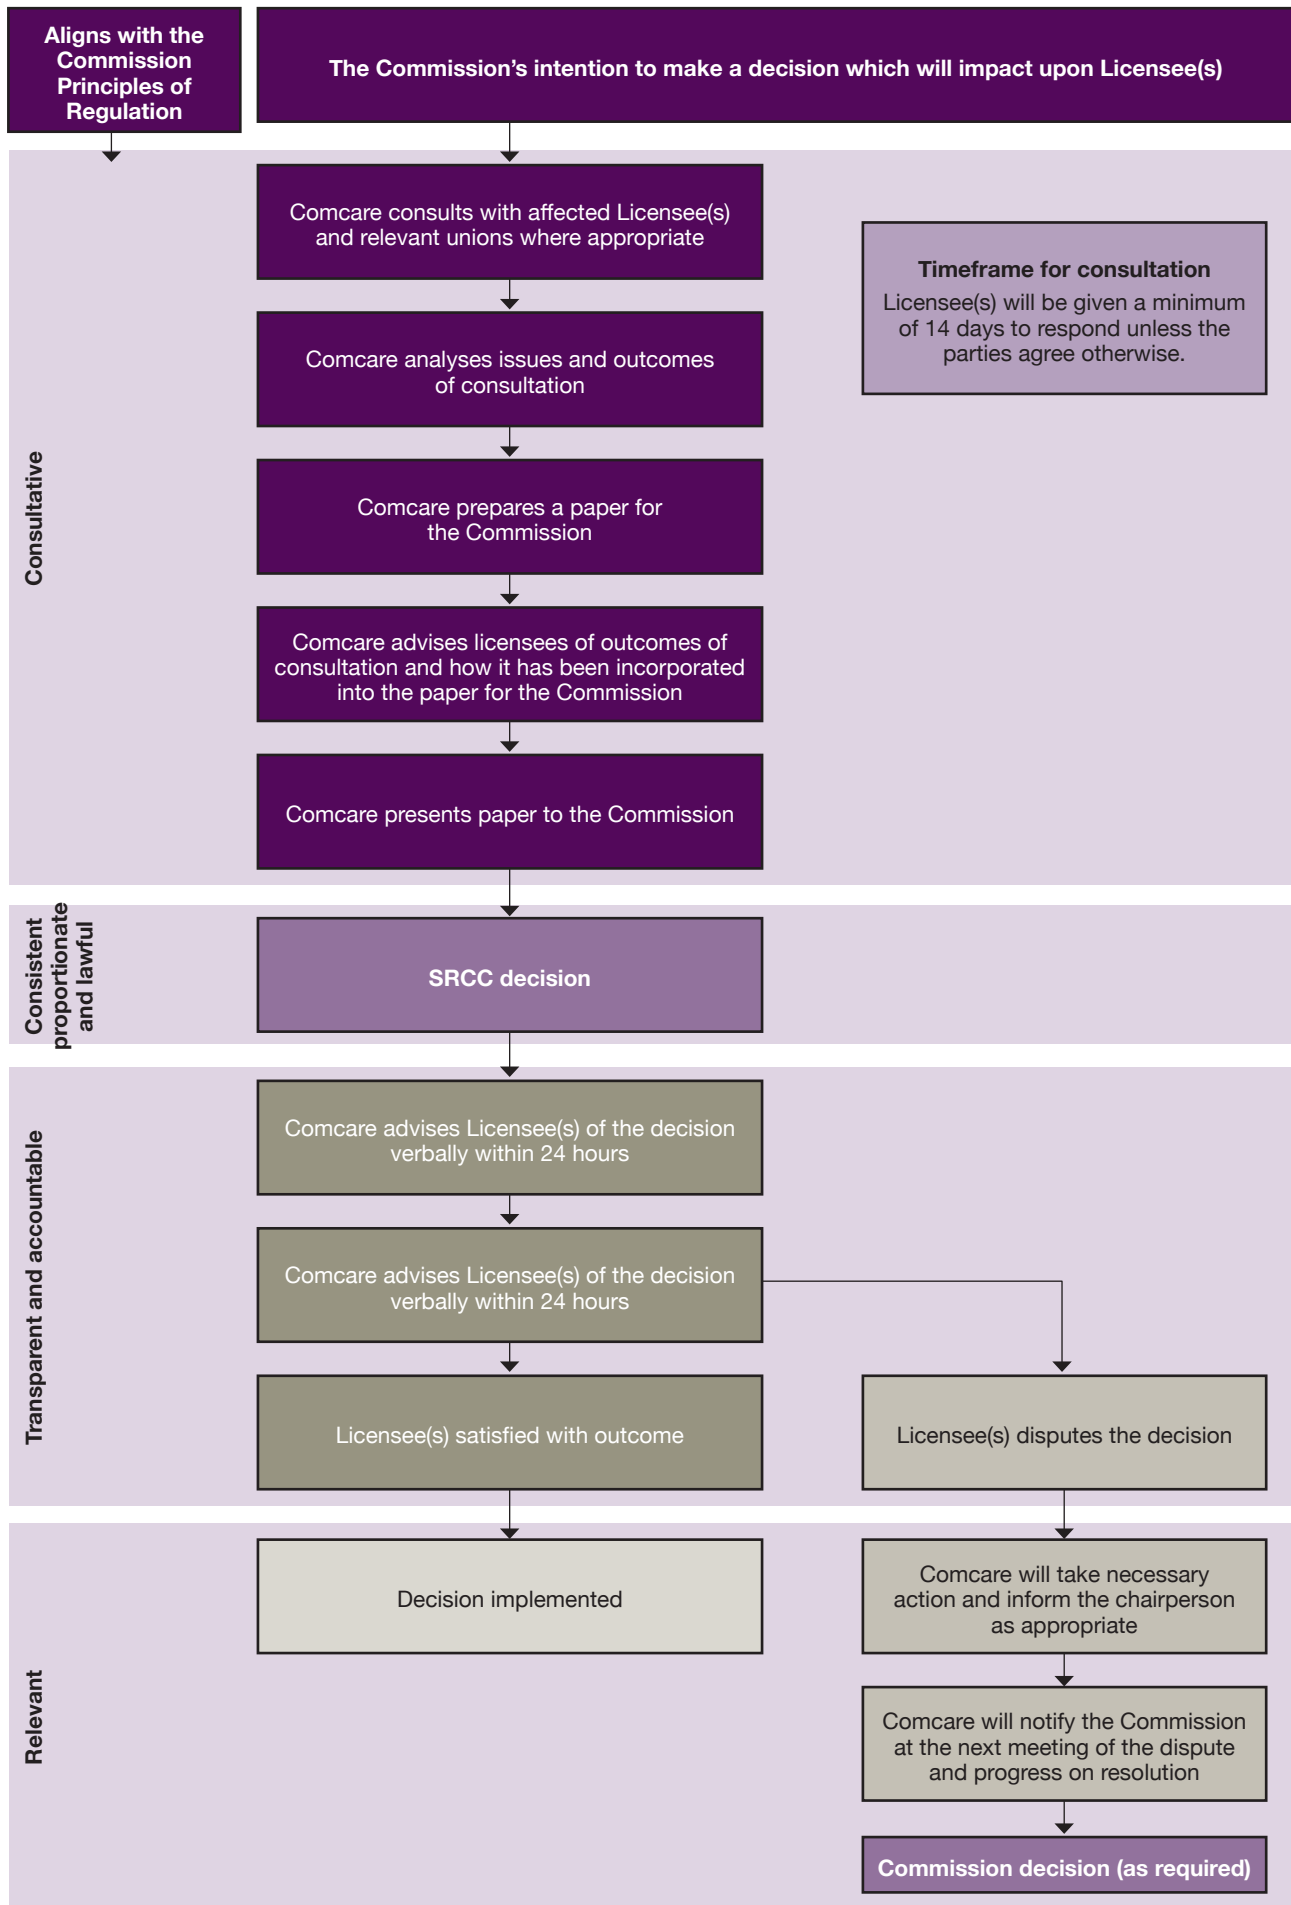

It is expected that when each party follows the processes set out in this document, disputes will be kept to a minimum. However, it is acknowledged that despite best endeavours, it will not always be possible for Comcare and a licensee to agree on issues being presented to the SRCC for decision. The following dispute resolution process is available to Licensees to resolve issues where they disagree with Comcare's assessment of the licensee's licence condition compliance or performance.

- (a) In the first instance, the issue should be raised with Comcare, and the issue will be reviewed by the General Manager responsible for the oversight of Self-Insurance arrangements. The General Manager will investigate the facts, consider policies and practices that may be applicable and consult with relevant experts as required. The General Manager should give the licensee/licensees a specific response as soon as reasonably possible.
- (b) Should the above step fail to resolve the issue, Comcare will present a paper to the SRCC with recommendations and options for resolution of the issue. The paper will detail the consultation process, clearly reflecting any dissenting view of the Licensee and include any submissions and supporting documentation received by the affected licensee.
- (c) The SRCC may either make a decision based on the information provided, or defer making a decision and:
  - i) provide direction to Comcare to further investigate and provide additional information to assist the SRCC in its decision-making process. This additional information could be presented out of session, or to a subsequent SRCC meeting;
  - ii) delegate to a sub-committee of the SRCC the task of examining the issues and making a recommendation to the SRCC. The sub-committee may, if reasonably required, obtain independent expert advice; or
  - iii) directly engage with the affected Licensee or employee representatives.

Dispute of the decision of the SRCC

Where a licensee disputes a decision of the SRCC, the licensee is able to seek a review of a decision under the Administrative Decisions (Judicial Review) Act 1977.

A flow chart of the consultation and dispute resolution process is set out below.

Licensees to request information on licensee data load results for timeliness and accuracy of data submissions from Comcare.

Licensees to provide context explaining any issues with data submission over the previous year.

3. Year/s ahead

3.1 Strategies and goals for coming year – reactive and proactive

In consideration of the themes identified at 2.1, and existing strategies, capture the reactive and proactive strategies the licensee will undertake in the coming year.

This section should also set out the strategies and goals the licensee sought to implement or achieve in the previous year and their current status.

Reactive Strategies refers to strategies arising from performance issues. Reactive Strategies should only be included below if they have not previously been reported to the SRCC through quarterly performance reports. However, Reactive Strategies should be included below if they have been reported in the quarterly performance reports but have not progressed and with an explanation as to why.

Proactive Strategies are ones the licensee is adopting to promote a healthy workplace.

All numbered strategies and goals previously reported to the SRCC should be addressed here (including if they have not been progressed and why).

Attachment C – Prudential and Financial Framework

Overview

The SRCC must be satisfied at the time of granting a licence, throughout the term of a licence and, in some cases, after the expiry of a licence, that a self-insured licensee can meet its financial obligations under the SRC Act in accordance with the scope of its licence. The licence conditions include a suite of prudential conditions aligned with the SRC Act example conditions<sup>1</sup> to ensure the licensee manages its self-insurance risk prudently.

A licensee's financial risk rating is the central performance/risk measure for the prudential conditions of licence. This ensures a licensee assessed as being at elevated risk of not meeting its licence obligations is more closely monitored than a low risk licensee.

Prudential conditions

The complete prudential conditions of licence required by the SRCC are included in the licence template.

The prudential conditions comprise:

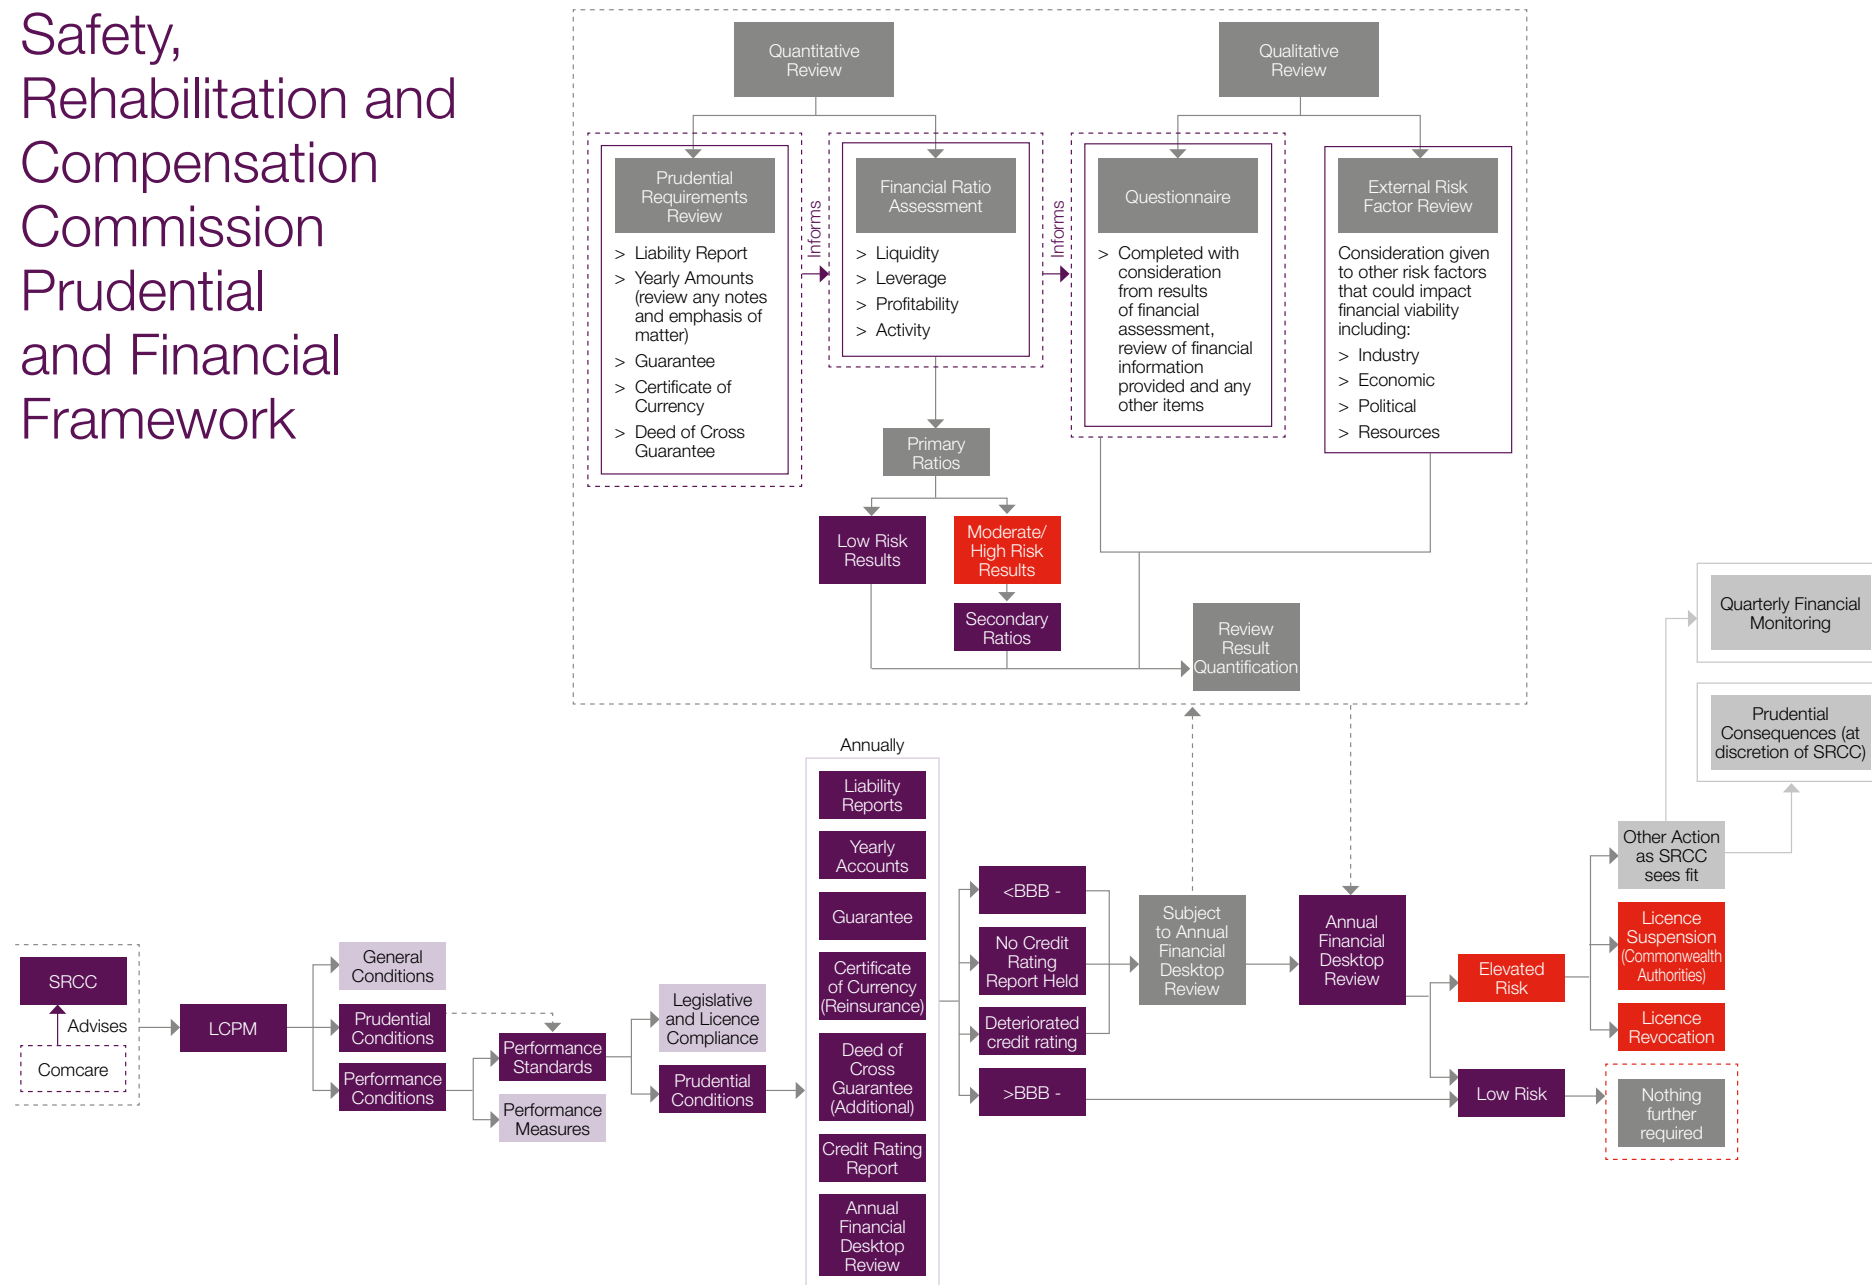

- liability report (an annual assessment by an actuary of a licensee's liability under the SRC Act in accordance with the licence scope)
- yearly accounts (annual audited annual financial statements) (including an annual provision in the accounts for a licensee's outstanding liability, split into current and non-current amounts, consistent with the actuary's calculation in the liability report)
- reinsurance to limit a licensee's liability to pay compensation and other amounts under the SRC Act in accordance with the licence for any single event/large claims
- securing of the licensee's liability or projected liability at the 95th percentile, whichever is the greater, at the licensee's end of financial year (EOFY) including the addition of the reinsurance excess amount
- Deed of parent/cross guarantee/indemnity (as required by the SRCC).

The SRCC's bank guarantee and insurer guarantee templates are available on request from Comcare's Self Insurance team.

Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission Prudential and Financial Framework

Annual financial assessment

The SRCC annually determines a financial risk rating of all licensees excepting the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA). The annual determination is made in one of two ways:

- determining a licensee as 'low' risk based on a credit ratings agency assessment (evidenced through provision of the credit rating report)

OR

- annual financial desktop review (AFDR).

Where the licensee is not required by the Australian Securities & Investments Commission (ASIC) to provide financial reporting under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act) and its financial arrangements are related to the financial arrangements of another subsidiary or group of subsidiaries of the same ultimate holding entity, the ultimate holding entity is the subject of the annual financial assessment.

Where the entity assessed as having sufficient resources is not the licensee, the SRCC requires the licence to include an additional prudential condition requiring the licensee to maintain the deed of parent/cross guarantee.

Credit rating reports

The SRCC determines a licensee as 'low' risk if the licensee:

- obtains Standard and Poor's (S&P) credit rating BBB- or higher (investment grade) (or equivalent rating from a credit ratings agency acceptable to the SRCC).
- However, a licensee will be subject to an AFDR if its credit rating for the financial year falls by:
- three or more ratings within a three-year timeframe (for example AA down to A)
- two ratings in the one year and the licensee moves from an upper medium grade credit rating to a lower medium grade credit rating (for example A- down to BBB)
- two ratings in the one year and the starting point rating is within the lower medium grade rating (for example ie BBB+ down to BBB-)

The SRCC accepts a credit ratings report from the three credit ratings agencies which hold an Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL) within Australia, and which are registered through the Australian Office of Financial Management: S&P, Moody's and Fitch Ratings (Fitch).

In the event that the licensee provides multiple credit rating reports to the SRCC, the SRCC uses the lowest credit rating result to determine the licensee's annual risk rating. A comparative credit ratings table of the three credit ratings agencies' ratings is included in Attachment C Appendices.

Annual financial desktop review

The annual financial desktop review (AFDR) is completed by a member of Comcare's financial panel. The panel of accounting firms contracted by Comcare to deliver the SRCC's financial assessment and monitoring services is established through open tender.

An AFDR is required where a licensee:

1. does not have or provide a credit ratings agency assessment
2. has an S&P credit rating assessment below BBB- (or equivalent rating from a credit ratings agency acceptable to the SRCC)
3. has a credit rating assessment deterioration which triggers an AFDR (see above).

Where a licensee's financial position is assessed at 'elevated' risk, Comcare reports this to the SRCC at the next quarterly meeting or otherwise as appropriate. Comcare's reporting incorporates licensee context and/or additional information and recommends regulatory action in accordance with the SRCC's staged approach for the SRCC's decision.

Continuous monitoring

An elevated annual risk assessment will trigger continuous monitoring by Comcare's financial panel of media, ratings agency sites, ASIC, the Australian Stock Exchange and any other relevant sites. The SRCC may also require the panel member (panellist) to monitor and/or review the licensee's cash flow forecasts, profit and loss forecasts, or the licensee's balance sheet and net asset position.

The SRCC may also consider imposing additional prudential consequences on a licensee assessed as elevated risk, in line with its regulatory response framework. This may involve requiring a licensee which is part of a broader corporate group to procure a parent/cross guarantee.

Throughout a year, a licensee may experience a significant event that impacts its prudential and/or financial risk. This may result from a change in a licensee's underlying financial position or legal structure, ownership or control or a change in a licensee's employee numbers or in the risk profile of the work undertaken by its employees.

If such an event occurs, the licensee is required to advise Comcare. Comcare's reporting to the SRCC identifies the event, relevant information and whether a licensee's financial risk may have increased since its most recent annual financial assessment. Comcare's reporting incorporates licensee context and/or information and recommends regulatory action for the SRCC's consideration. The SRCC may require continuous monitoring to be undertaken or other prudential action.

Financial Viability Assessment

The SRCC must be satisfied at the time of granting a licence that a self-insured licensee can meet its obligations under the SRC Act in accordance with the scope of its licence.

The Financial Viability Assessment is conducted for all licence applicants and is almost identical to the AFDR. The Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Regulations 2019 (Cth) require the applicant subject to the viability assessment to provide five years of audited financial statements.

Annual Financial Desktop Review – Guidance

The AFDR provides an annual financial risk assessment of a licensee. Where the licensee is not required by the ASIC to provide financial reporting under the Corporations Act and its financial arrangements are related to the financial arrangements of another subsidiary or group of subsidiaries of the same ultimate holding entity, the ultimate holding entity is the subject of the annual financial assessment. The AFDR must advise which organisation is the subject of the AFDR and the financial reason for this.

Quantitative review

The first section of the AFDR process is the quantitative review. The quantitative review comprises the financial indicator assessment and prudential review.

Financial Indicator Assessment

Financial indicators

The panellist assesses the licensee's financial position based on a range of key financial ratios. The financial ratios are detailed in the table below.

- Indicators are also rated as either critical or non-critical.
  - The critical ratios comprise: liquidity, leverage and profitability. Elevated risk in one of these ratios may indicate financial viability concerns with the licensee. Industry considerations would still need to be considered as ratios across industries can vary.
  - The activity ratios are defined as non-critical as these indicators provide a weaker indication of financial viability.
- Indicators are ranked as primary or secondary ratios.
  - The primary ratios only are assessed in the first instance.
  - The secondary ratios are only completed in the event that the primary ratio risk rating falls into one of the two 'elevated' risk categories ('moderate' or 'high' risk).
- The indicators comprise:

Liquidity Ratios

- These ratios measure a licensee's ability to cover its debts. They are a key measure indicating solvency.
- Liquidity Ratios benchmarks are a starting point for assessment. However, it is acknowledged that liquidity varies according to industry and industry fluctuations.

Leverage Ratios

- These ratios measure the level of debt carried by an entity. Significant levels of debt may be detrimental to the on-going viability of a licensee.
- Leverage Ratios benchmarks are a starting point for assessment. However, it is acknowledged that leverage varies according to industry and industry fluctuations.

Profitability Ratios

- These ratios measure a licensee's ability to generate earnings. An unprofitable entity may be at elevated risk of insolvency.
- 'EBITDA (Earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortisation) /Revenue' ratio is an alternative ratio to the 'Gross Profit Margin' ratio which is not applicable to some licensees such as service entities. Either ratio can be used to assess the licensee's profitability.
- As profitability varies according to industry and industry fluctuations, individual licensee profitability trend data will be used to measure a licensee's performance in the most recent financial year against the licensee's historical performance.
- Trend information for a minimum of three financial years should be considered.

Activity Ratios

- These ratios measure a licensee's activity. Licensees will advise how activity ratios are calculated in their business.
- As activity varies according to industry and industry fluctuations, individual licensee activity trend data will be used to measure a licensee's performance in the most recent financial year against the licensee's historical performance.
- Trend information for a minimum of three financial years should be considered.

Assessment Process

A flow chart setting out the assessment process is provided below.

The key elements of the process are:

- All indicators, critical and non-critical, should be assessed.
- The primary ratios only are assessed in the first stage of the assessment process.
- Each indicator is assigned a risk rating to assist the panellist in identifying if the licensee may be at 'elevated' risk based on the ratio assessed.
- If the primary ratio risk rating is assessed as 'moderate' or 'high', that is, one of the two 'elevated' risk categories, in one of the critical ratio categories (liquidity/leverage/profitability), the secondary ratios must be assessed.
- The secondary ratios assist in more accurately determining whether the elevated risk identified from the primary ratio(s) is an anomaly or a genuine concern.
- All secondary ratios in the relevant critical category should be calculated in this instance. An assessment of all secondary ratios provides an opportunity to move a licensee to a 'low' risk rating and/or obtain additional contextual financial information.
- If the AFDR identifies a ratio as 'low' risk, the qualitative review is not required.
- If a licensee is rated at 'elevated' risk for one critical ratio category, a licensee will not be automatically assessed as being at 'elevated' risk overall. The second stage of assessment, the qualitative review, is undertaken by the panellist before assigning the final risk rating assessment.
- Finally, if the 'elevated' risk remains following completion of the qualitative review, context/additional information will be sought from the licensee prior to the panellist awarding an annual 'elevated' risk rating.

Prudential Review

The second section of the quantitative review is the prudential review.

The panellist reviews the prudential information submitted by licensees to Comcare as part of its licence conditions. This review provides the SRCC assurance on whether the prudential licence conditions have been met.

This section of the report must provide clear recommendations to Comcare for any required action.

Qualitative Review

The second stage of the AFDR assessment process is the qualitative review. This is only undertaken if a licensee is assessed at 'elevated' risk for one critical category.

The qualitative review comprises the questionnaire and external risk factor review. The questionnaire facilitates the consideration of qualitative, industry or licensee specific issues relevant to the assessment. The external risk factor review seeks to identify external risk factors such as economic or political factors which could impact the financial position of the licensee.

The questionnaire and external risk factor review are detailed below.

Risk Assessment

The AFDR report must provide a clear risk rating of the licensee's financial position, either 'low' risk or 'elevated' risk, including the evidence base for the rating, and clear recommendations to Comcare for any required action.

Following completion of the qualitative review, if the panellist's AFDR assesses the licensee at 'low' risk of failing to meet its financial obligations under the SRC Act in accordance with the scope of its licence, the panellist provides the AFDR to Comcare.

If, after completing the qualitative review, the panellist's AFDR assesses the licensee at 'elevated' risk of failing to meet its financial obligations under the SRC Act, the panellist advises Comcare accordingly. Comcare advises the licensee of the panellist's assessment and evidence base of the assessment. The licensee has the opportunity to provide additional information/context to Comcare for the panellist's review. The panellist modifies or maintains the risk assessment and provides the AFDR to Comcare.

Comcare reviews the AFDR, risk assessment and recommendations for action, reporting to the SRCC at the next quarterly meeting or otherwise as appropriate. Comcare's reporting incorporates licensee context and/or additional information and recommends regulatory action in accordance with the SRCC's staged approach for the SRCC's decision.

Annual Financial Desktop Review: Financial indicator assessment process

Critical Ratios:

Elevated risk in these ratios may indicate financial viability concerns with the licensee. Industry considerations would still need to be considered as ratios across industries can vary.

Liquidity ratios

The ratio results show an entity's ability to cover its debts and is a key metric showing the solvency of an entity. The ratios show the margin of safety that the company has. If the entity does not have more current assets than liabilities then the entity is considered to be insolvent.

Leverage Ratios

Assesses the level of debt carried by an entity - significant levels of debt can be detrimental to the on-going viability of an entity.

Profitability Ratios

Measure of an entity's ability to generate earnings. An unprofitable entity is at elevated risk of insolvency.

Non-Critical Ratios:

The Activity Ratios do not necessarily provide a strong indication of an entity's on-going financial viability.

Prudential review

This section of the AFDR reviews the licensee's compliance with the prudential licence conditions.

Liability Report

- Is the liability report addressed to the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission?
- Is the liability report prepared by a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries of Australia with at least five years' post-qualification experience as an actuary in general insurance?
- Has the actuary confirmed he/she: is not an employee or a partner of the organisation which provides financial audit services to the licensee; has no material financial dependence on the auditor?
- Has the actuary prepared the liability report using the Institute of Actuaries of Australia Professional Standard 302: Valuations of General Insurance Claims?
- Has the actuary used the risk free rate in discounting the expected future claims payments of insurance liabilities?
- Risk Free Rate means the rates to be used in discounting the expected future claims payments of insurance liabilities denominated in Australian currency as determined in accordance with APRA Prudential Standard GPS 320: Actuarial and Related Matters, or any standard substituted thereof.
- Has the actuary recommended a provision which must be made in the licensee's accounts to at least the net unbiased estimate of the mean (statistical expectation) of the Outstanding Claim Liability (split into current and non-current amounts)?<sup>3</sup>
- Has the actuary recommended the maximum reinsurance policy retention amount for the licensee's reinsurance?
- Has the actuary assessed the Licensee as having the financial capacity to meet amounts, from the balance sheet, up to the recommended excess amount?
- Has the actuary assessed the reinsurance arrangements as appropriate to limit the licensee's liability to pay compensation and other amounts under the SRC Act in accordance with the scope of its licence?

Yearly Accounts (Audited Financial Statements)

- Do the audited financial statements include the auditor's signed and dated report?
- Do the audited financial statements include provision for meeting the licensee's outstanding claim liability (split into current and non-current amounts) equal to or greater than the actuary's valuation in the Liability Report of the licensee's outstanding claim liability (current and non-current) for the financial year? If not, are any apparent discrepancies explained in the statements?<sup>4</sup>

Guarantee

Deed of Cross Guarantee (if applicable)

- List the current parties (including their ABNs) to the Deed referenced by the audited financial statements. Have the parties changed from the parties listed in the previous financial year's audited financial statements? If so, advise which parties have been joined to or released from the Deed and/or any other changes to the Deed which have occurred in the financial year?<sup>5</sup>

Guarantee/s

- Do the audited financial statements reference any other guarantees? If so, what arrangements are in place? # Attachment F – Policy on extension of a licence under Part VIII of the SRC Act

Introduction

1. This policy outlines the steps the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission (SRCC) may take in considering extending a licence.
2. By publishing this policy, the SRCC has ensured that Licensees and other interested parties are aware of the type of issues that the SRCC will take into account when making a decision to extend a licence. This policy does not set out an exhaustive list of the issues that the SRCC may take into account.

What can the SRCC do?

3. The SRCC, under section 103 of the SRC Act may grant an eligible applicant a licence for a specified period. Licensees can request subsequent licence extensions under section 105 of the SRC.
4. Section 105 of the SRC Act provides that the SRCC may at any time while a licence is in force, on the written application of the Licensee, extend the term of the licence.
5. The SRC Act, SRC Regulations and Ministerial Directions do not specify criteria to consider in setting an appropriate period of licence, merely that the period must be specified in the licence. The duration of a licence is therefore at the discretion of the SRCC.
6. At its December 2014 meeting, the SRCC decided that the usual period for a licence extension would be up to eight years.
7. However, where the SRCC considers it appropriate to do so, the SRCC may consider issuing or extending licences for a shorter period of time than the usual period.
8. Irrespective of the duration of the licence period, the SRCC has the ability under section 108D of the SRC Act to vary the licence conditions for any particular licensee where necessary.
9. The SRCC also has a number of mechanisms to manage Licensee performance, as set out in the Licence Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM).

What does a licence extension application involve?

10. The Licensee must submit a written application, signed by the Principal Officer (usually the Chief Executive Officer), to the SRCC to consider an extension of licence.
11. A compliant licence extension application must be received by the SRCC no later than 12 weeks prior to the SRCC meeting at which the application will be considered. Comcare is then able to verify that all the information and documentation required to be assessed by the SRCC has been provided. The regulatory cost of a licence extension application is factored into the Licensee's licence fee.

12. In deciding whether or not it is appropriate to extend the term of a licence, the SRCC considers among other relevant factors, that the Licensee has demonstrated it continues to meet the requirements of section 104(2) of the SRC Act, including that:
  - > the applicant has sufficient resources to fulfil the responsibilities imposed on it under the licence
  - > the applicant has the capacity to ensure that claims will be managed in accordance with standards set by the SRCC for the management of claims (if applicable)
  - > the grant of the licence will not be contrary to the interests of the employees of the licensee whose affairs fall within the scope of the licence
  - > the applicant has the capacity to meet the standards set by the SRCC for the rehabilitation and WHS of its employees.
13. The SRCC may also have regard to the considerations referred to in section 104(2A) of the SRC Act which refers to the past conduct of the licensee and the likelihood of the licensee meeting WHS, rehabilitation, and claims management standards set by the SRCC.
14. Comcare is required to review the information that supports the Licensee's licence extension application. In reviewing this information, Comcare considers a range of matters including but not limited to:
  - > evidence of consultation with employees and relevant unions (Refer to Attachment K – Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees)
  - > claims management performance
  - > WHS intervention outcomes
  - > determining authorities' key performance indicator performance
  - > audit results
  - > performance trends
  - > financial desktop reviews
  - > liability reports
  - > prudential requirements
  - > compliance with the conditions of licence

Comcare provides its review to the SRCC which makes the decision on whether to grant a licence extension.

Registering the licence extension application on SRCC website

15. The licence extension application will be registered on the SRCC's website at least 12 weeks prior to the application being considered by the SRCC. This step aligns with the SRCC's objectives and principles (section 4 of the LCPM) by ensuring an open and transparent process and giving third parties the opportunity to express views regarding the licence extension application to the SRCC. The deadline for the submission of comments on licence extension applications is four weeks prior to the SRCC meeting at which the application will be considered. However, the SRCC may exercise its discretion to accept submissions made after that deadline.

When does an extension come into effect?

16. The extension comes into effect from the commencement date identified in the signed notice.

Advising the Licensee of the SRCC's decision

17. A letter advising of the outcome of the SRCC meeting (setting out the terms of the extension and the date of effect of the extension) will be signed by the SRCC Chairperson and sent to the Licensee's Principal Officer.
18. The SRCC must also publish a notice of extension in the Commonwealth gazette or by notifiable instrument setting out the extension of the term of the licence.

Consultation and dispute resolution

19. The SRCC has an agreed approach to dispute resolution, which is detailed in Section 10 of the LCPM.
20. The SRCC's Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees is at Attachment K of the LCPM.

The principles underpinning this policy

21. The SRCC's objectives and principles (section 4 of the LCPM) underpin the drafting and application of this policy. These principles will inform any decision by the SRCC to vary a licence.
22. In addition, the SRCC has endorsed the following processes for licence extensions:
  - > Adequacy of time to consider extension applications—The evaluation of licence applications is a complex process which requires information to be supplied from a number of bodies. To ensure that the SRCC has sufficient time to consider licence extension applications, it has imposed a minimum timeframe for submissions of 12 weeks prior to a scheduled SRCC meeting.
  - > Opportunities for views to be expressed to the SRCC—The SRCC has established a protocol and timetable for interested individuals and bodies to make their views on the licence extension application known. This information is available through the SRCC website at www.srcc.gov.au.

Attachment G – Policy on suspension or revocation of a licence under Part VIII of the SRC Act

Introduction

1. This policy outlines the broad steps the SRCC may take in considering regulatory action which could lead to the suspension or revocation of a licence. It is expected that licensees will seek to voluntarily rectify any breaches of the conditions of licence and to address any regulatory concerns on the part of the SRCC. As such, suspension and revocation are regulatory tools of last resort.
2. By publishing this policy, the SRCC has ensured that licensees and other interested parties are aware of the type of issues that the SRCC will consider when making any decision to suspend or revoke a licence. This policy does not set out an exhaustive list of the issues that the SRCC may consider.
3. This Policy should be read in conjunction with the rest of the Licence Compliance and Performance Model.

What can the SRCC do?

4. Section 108D(2) of the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act) provides that the SRCC, at any time after which the licence is granted, which may also extend to prior to licence commencement, may vary the conditions to which the licence is subject by notice in writing to the licensee.
5. Section 106 of the SRC Act gives the SRCC power to suspend or revoke a licence, which may also extend to a licence which has yet to come into force (i.e. a licence which has been granted but not yet commenced), where it considers it appropriate to do so by written notice to the licensee. Section 106(2) states that the SRCC must follow such procedures, if any, as set out in Ministerial Directions.
6. In 2019, the Minister gave directions to the SRCC under sections 89D and 101 of the SRC Act in relation to the SRCC's power to suspend or revoke a licence (the Ministerial Directions).
7. Clause 15 of the Ministerial Directions provides that:
  - > for a Commonwealth Authority, the SRCC may suspend or revoke a licence; and
  - > for a licensed corporation the SRCC may only revoke a licence (i.e. it is not open for the SRCC to suspend the licence of a non-Commonwealth Authority licensee).
8. Clause 16 of the Ministerial Directions sets out the procedure to be applied in the case of a suspected breach of licence condition. The procedure states that:
  - > the SRCC may give written notice to a licensee regarding a suspected breach; and
  - > the licensee is to be invited to make a written submission to the SRCC within 30 days after receiving the notice.

In what circumstances does this policy apply?

9. This policy should be applied by the SRCC when considering whether to suspend or revoke a licence, including a licence which has not yet come into force, for any reason. This may include:
  - > a breach of the general conditions of licence;
  - > a breach of the specific conditions of licence;
  - > a breach of the prudential conditions of licence;
  - > a deterioration in performance; and
  - > a breach of the WHS Act or the SRC Act; or
  - > where the SRCC form a reasonable view that the conditions of licence may not be able to be met.
10. This policy sets out broad stages that may be applied to any of the above situations. This broad approach can be modified depending on the exact circumstances.
11. In accordance with the Regulatory Response Framework (set out in section 9 of the LCPM), the SRCC will usually only consider revocation or suspension for serious or systemic issues, or where a licensee has resisted or been unable to achieve voluntary compliance. The SRCC, with the assistance of Comcare, will seek to resolve any non-conformance through means other than suspension or revocation. If this is unsuccessful and the issues are not satisfactorily resolved, then suspension or revocation will be considered.
12. In considering whether to suspend or revoke a licence the SRCC might have regard to the requirements to the granting of a licence referred in section 104(2) and (2A) of the SRC Act and clause 7 of the Ministerial Directions.

Steps to implement a revocation or suspension

13. In the interests of procedural fairness and natural justice, where the SRCC is considering suspending or revoking a licence for any reason, the SRCC will provide written notice to the licensee and seek a response within 30 days (subject to paragraph 10 above).
14. In drafting a written notice for the licensee, the SRCC will have due regard to providing sufficient details and specificity of the matter. A licensee will be provided an opportunity to clarify matters in contention before providing a written response to the SRCC.
15. If the SRCC suspends or revokes a licence under section 106 of the SRC Act, the SRCC must give the licensee written notice. That notice must state the date of effect of the suspension or revocation (and the period for which the licence is suspended) and set out the reasons for the decision to suspend or revoke.
16. Clause 15(4) of the Ministerial Directions requires the SRCC to publish a notice in the gazette or by notifiable instrument stating that the licence has been suspended or revoked under section 106 of the SRC Act. The notice of a revocation must state the date of effect of the revocation. The notice of a suspension must state the date of effect of the suspension and the period of the suspension.

Consultation and dispute resolution

17. The SRCC has an agreed approach to dispute resolution, which is detailed in Section 10 of the LCPM.
18. The SRCC's Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees is at Attachment K of the LCPM.

Attachment H – Policy on variation of a licence under Part VIII of the SRC Act

Introduction

1. By publishing this policy, the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission (SRCC) has ensured that licensees and other interested parties are aware of the type of issues the SRCC considers when deciding to vary a licence. This policy does not set out an exhaustive list of the issues that the SRCC may consider.
2. This Policy should be read in conjunction with the rest of the Licence Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM).

What can the SRCC do?

3. Under section 105 of the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act), the SRCC may, at any time while a licence is in force, on the written application of the licensee—vary the scope of the licence. Licence variation applications are considered by the SRCC as they arise.
4. In addition, under section 108D(2), the SRCC, at any time while licence is in force, may vary the conditions to which the licence is subject, by notice in writing to the licensee. The notice must set out the terms of the variation and the date of effect.

What does a licence variation application involve?

Application for variation by a licensee

5. The licensee must submit a written application, signed by the Principal Officer (usually the Chief Executive Officer), to the SRCC for a variation of licence consistent with section 105(1) of the SRC Act and the applicant's conditions of licence.
6. A licence variation application must be supported by information relevant to or required by the specific variation request. Comcare will verify that all the information and documentation required has been provided. There is no licence variation application fee.
7. In making a decision whether to vary conditions, in accordance with section 108D(2) of the SRC Act the SRCC may consider whether any variation is necessary to achieve the objectives of the SRC Act. The objectives of the SRC Act include the provision of a fair, efficient and equitable system of workers' compensation to employees within the scope of the SRC Act.

8. Comcare, in supporting the SRCC, is required to review the information that supports the licensee's licence variation application. Depending on the nature and complexity of the variation being sought, Comcare may consider a range of matters. For example:
  - > evidence of consultation with employees and relevant unions; (Refer to Attachment K – Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees)
  - > claims management performance;
  - > WHS Inspection outcomes;
  - > determining Authorities' key performance indicator performance;
  - > audit results;
  - > financial desktop reviews;
  - > liability reports;
  - > prudential requirements; and
  - > compliance with the conditions of licence.
9. Comcare will advise the SRCC of its review to assist the SRCC's decision making. It will do so considering the objectives and principles (Section 4 of the LCPM) and its dispute resolution process (section 10 of the LCPM).

Variation at the instigation of the SRCC

10. Should the SRCC seek, under Section 108D(2) of the SRC Act to vary the conditions of licence it will do so taking into account its objectives and principles and its dispute resolution process.

Variation prior to licence Commencement

11. Where a licence is granted and the applicant requests a significant change (delayed commencement date, significantly different systems or financial arrangements etc) prior to the commencement date agreed by the SRCC, the SRCC may require further information from the licensee before the variation is granted.

When does a variation come into force?

12. The variation comes into force on the date specified in the notice that is not earlier than the date the notice is given to the person.

Advising the licensee of the SRCC's decision

13. A letter containing the outcome of the SRCC meeting signed by the Chairperson of the SRCC and a copy of the signed variation notice will be sent to the licensee's Principal Officer.
14. The SRCC must also publish the notice of variation in the Commonwealth gazette or by notifiable instrument setting out the variation and stating the commencement date.

Consultation and dispute resolution

15. The SRCC has an agreed approach to dispute resolution, which is detailed in Section 10 of the LCPM.
16. The SRCC's Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees is at Attachment K of the LCPM.

Attachment I – Regulatory Response Flow Chart

SRCC – Regulatory response flow chart

This flow chart sets out the indicative steps the SRCC will work through in the event a non-compliance or performance issue arises for a licensee under the SRCC's Licence Compliance and Performance Model.

Attachment J – Scheduled Review – Methodology for Years 2 and 6

Scope of Scheduled Reviews

Scheduled Reviews cover aspects of the SRCC's claims, rehabilitation and prevention Performance Standards and Measures that are not captured through the standard reporting process during Years 2 and 6 of the self-insurance licence cycle. They assist the SRCC to determine whether focussed regulatory action should be undertaken before the licensee requests an extension of licence in Year 8.

The criteria set out below will form the basis for scoping Scheduled Reviews, subject to the SRCC's decision in each case.

Claims Management

The SRCC's quarterly and annual reporting process identifies:

- Accepted claims and claims reaching one week of incapacity incidence rates;
- Return to work rate;
- Claims and reconsideration timeliness; and
- Overall maintenance of the Claims Management System.

The focus of the claims element of the Scheduled Review will be on the practical application/testing of other key elements of the SRCC's claims management audit tool, such as (but not limited to) the following:

Claims Management Audit Tool – Element	Criterion
Employees are aware of rights	3.3
Determinations in accordance with the Act	3.5
Initial liability	3.7
Determining incapacity	3.8
Determining benefits	3.9
Determining permanent impairment	3.10
Reconsiderations	3.12
Reasonable opportunity	3.13

Rehabilitation Management

LKPI 5 (Return to work rate) provides the SRCC with the percentage of claims that have experienced return to work outcomes (partial or full). The focus of the rehabilitation element of the Scheduled Review will be on the practical application/testing of elements that are not as prominent in the SRCC's ongoing reporting cycle, as such as (but not limited to) the following:

Rehabilitation Management Audit Tool – Element	Criterion
Employees are aware of rights	3.3
Early intervention	3.5
Rehabilitation assessments	3.6
Rehabilitation programs	3.7
Suitable employment	3.8
Determinations in accordance with the SRC Act	3.9
Employee non-compliance	3.10
Reconsiderations	3.11

Prevention

The SRCC's regular reporting process identifies notifiable incidents, including fatalities. In addition, almost all licensees conduct annual audits based on the National Audit Tool, and report on these to the SRCC.

The Prevention element will focus on verifying that the resources, accountability and processes are in place to ensure the ongoing maintenance of the SRCC's Performance Standards and Measures in practice. This will involve a focus on practical application/testing of the National Audit Tool such as (but not limited to):

National Audit Tool – Element	Criterion
3 – Implementation
Structure and responsibility - resources	3.1
Structure and responsibility – Responsibility and accountability	3.2
Structure and responsibility – Training and competency	3.3
Consultation, communication and reporting - Consultation	3.4
Consultation, communication and reporting - Communication	3.5
Consultation, communication and reporting - Reporting	3.6
Health and safety risk management program	3.9
Hazard identification, risk assessment and control of risks	3.10
Emergency preparedness and response	3.11
4 – Measurement and evaluation
Incident investigation, and corrective and preventive action	4.3

Desktop reviews and focus

Where the licensee has recently been subject to external claims, rehabilitation or prevention audits, the SRCC may decide that a desktop review of these audits may be conducted initially to determine whether to proceed with a Scheduled Review, and if so, the scope of the Review.

Unless otherwise determined by the SRCC, elements of performance that have been subject to a targeted review or other regulatory action within the previous year will not be reviewed again.

Flowchart – Scheduled Review Process

Attachment K – Policy on the provision of information and consultation requirements – guidance for licensees

Introduction

Employers applying for a self-insurance licence under the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act) are required to consult with employees and employee representatives. This is a formal and extensive process that actively seeks the views of employees.

During the term of a licence, the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission (SRCC) generally requires licensees to provide information to employees about a number of key events or changes to the licence rather than formal consultation.

Whenever licensees are required to provide information to their employees and employee representatives in accordance with this guidance, they must ensure that their Comcare Account Managers are also provided with adequate evidence that this has occurred.

What is information provision

‘Information provision’ is not as extensive as consultation. It is generally required by the SRCC where a change or event is occurring (or is planned) during the term of a licence which arises from a business or operational decision.

Generally speaking, information provision does not involve formally seeking the views of employees or other stakeholders. However, feedback should be invited as a matter of course and considered if received.

The licensee should ensure that all affected employees are able to be part of the process. The type of work employees do, their working environment and geographical spread of the workforce, will affect the information provision mechanisms chosen. Information provision mechanisms refer to the different methods of communicating a message, these might include meetings, email, newsletter or the intranet.

Information provided should be in a form that can be easily understood by employees and their representatives. Information should not be withheld just because it is technical, or possibly difficult to understand. However, information may need to be simplified and presented in different ways to make it comprehensible to all employees.

While information provided should be as comprehensive as appropriate and reasonable in each case, privacy and other considerations mean that information such as personal records, material involving legal professional privilege would not normally be circulated as part of the information provision process.

Accommodating employees from culturally or linguistically diverse backgrounds

Employers should ensure that there are arrangements in place to provide information in an accessible way for all employees, including those from culturally or linguistically diverse backgrounds. Where reasonably practicable, material should be translated into appropriate languages, or non-written forms, to assist employees from non-English speaking backgrounds or low literacy levels.

Giving employees and their representatives a reasonable opportunity to express views

Information provision does not require a formal opportunity for employee and other stakeholder views to be provided as is the case with consultation. However, as a routine matter, employees and employee representatives should always be given a reasonable opportunity to ask questions, seek clarification and provide comments.

Reporting to the SRCC

When advising the SRCC of any of the matters requiring information provision, licensees are not required to provide a detailed breakdown of any feedback provided but should inform the SRCC of any significant trends or comments made and the nature of the licensee's response.

This guidance has been issued by the SRCC to licensees under the SRC Act. Its purpose is to assist licensees to understand the SRCC's requirements in providing information about significant events regarding self-insurance licensing to employees and employee representatives.

Consultation is a more formal and comprehensive process than providing information and is dealt with in other guidance.

What are the SRCC's information provision requirements?

Below are the situations in which an employer is required to provide information to their employees and employee representatives. One or more of the following situations may apply depending on the nature of the change.

When the licensee is undertaking a licence extension application

A self-insurance licence extension under the SRC Act is not automatic. It is subject to the SRCC's decision on the basis of a range of factors, such as the licensee's performance over the life of the licence. This is considered against the requirements of the Licensee Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM). The SRCC considers all aspects of the licensee's ongoing performance to determine whether the extension should be granted, and if so, for what length of time.

As an extension of licence is effectively an extension of the existing workers' compensation environment for employees, formal consultation is not required. This is because employee benefits and entitlements will not change. However, the SRCC expects that an applying licensee will provide employees with information about the process for licence extension (at a high level) and explain that it will not affect their benefits and entitlements.

Licensees should support the information provision requirement by establishing a robust feedback mechanism (for example, an online feedback portal). This will enable licensee employees and employee representatives to provide feedback in a secure but transparent manner. The licensees should detail in their request to the SRCC what information was provided and what feedback was received. This will ensure the SRCC is informed of the views of key stakeholders in the licence extension decision.

Timing	Once the licensee's principal officer has decided to seek an extension, but before they seek formal SRCC approval for the extension. The SRCC expects that employees and employee representatives will have been provided with access to the relevant information and details of the license extension application mechanism. This will allow the employees and their representatives to provide feedback prior to being asked to consider the licence extension request. It is important for the SRCC to be aware of the views and concerns of employees and other stakeholders when considering whether to grant a licence extension. The licensee should detail in its request to the SRCC what information was provided and what feedback was received.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Basic nature of Comcare scheme self-insurance arrangements</li><li>• Licensee's reasons for choosing to remain with Comcare scheme self-insurance arrangements</li><li>• Key performance improvements and key milestones during the current term of the licence</li><li>• Period of licence, including dates for the extension</li><li>• Broad outline of the process for seeking a licence extension (including the fact the SRCC makes the final decision on the licence variation) and the likely timeline for the process</li><li>• Assurance that the employees' substantive rights and obligations under the SRC Act will not be affected by the extension</li><li>• Details of how to provide feedback to their employer</li></ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions
Special considerations	Employees or ex-employees with active claims should be contacted directly to assure them that the licence extension will have no impact on the claims/payments process for them personally.

Licence variation—change of claims manager or change of nominated reviewer

A licensee retains responsibility for the management of claims for workers' compensation made by its employees throughout the term of a licence. The SRCC may authorise a third party to manage a licensee's claims through a variation of the licence. This is usually an insurance company or claims management service provider.

The decision as to which third party claims manager should be used (or the decision to change to in-house claims management) is essentially a commercial decision for the licensee and therefore, does not require formal consultation with employees or their representatives. This is because it does not affect the substantive rights or entitlements of employees.

However, as claims management arrangements represent an important element of the workers' compensation environment for employees, they must be provided with appropriate information in some way and given the opportunity to provide feedback to the licensee should they wish to do so.

Information provision for a change of claims manager should meet the following requirements.

Timing	Once the licensee has chosen the new claims manager, but before they seek formal SRCC approval for the licence variation.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Identity of the proposed new claims manager</li><li>• Likely timeline for the transition process (including changes to online forms, contact details etc.)</li><li>• Details of the process (including the fact the SRCC makes the final decision on the licence variation)</li><li>• Assurance that the substantive rights and obligations under the SRC Act will not be affected</li><li>• Details of how to provide feedback to their employer</li></ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions
Special considerations	Employees or ex-employees with active claims should be contacted directly to explain how the claims/payments process will change for them personally.

Licence variation—change of entity name, changes to parent or cross guarantees, change of specific or special licence condition

Changes to matters, such as the entity name or prudential arrangements, would normally not affect employees directly. Depending on the issue, it may be important that employees and employee representatives are aware of the overall governance and prudential environment for their employer's self-insurance arrangements.

Timing	Once the licensee's principal officer has formally decided to make the change assess the information, if any, to be provided and through what mechanism to provide it.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Reason for the change</li><li>• Nature of the change (e.g. new entity name, detail of guarantee or condition change)</li><li>• Likely timing</li><li>• Details of the process (including the fact the SRCC makes the final decision on the licence variation)</li><li>• Assurance that the substantive rights and obligations under the SRC Act will not be affected, or if they will, what will change</li></ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions
Special considerations	The significance of the change may not be clear to employees. For this reason, the licensee will need to ensure this significance is clearly communicated including the implications this change will have on employees and any claims they may make.

Change to management systems—technology (WHS/rehabilitation/claims)

Changes to systems throughout the life of a licence are fundamentally a business decision for the licensee. These may, however, affect employees in terms of process and procedures for how their claims and other compensation arrangements are managed. Information provided in relation to such changes should focus on what practical implications the change will have for employees with workers' compensation claims and how this will be managed.

Timing	Before the employer or third party insurer introduces the new system.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Reason for the change</li> <li>Nature of the change (e.g. change in IT provider)</li> <li>Likely timing</li> <li>Details of the process (including brief information on any SRCC approval requirements if relevant)</li> <li>Assurance that the substantive rights and obligations under the SRC Act will not be affected</li> </ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions
Special considerations	The significance of the change may not be clear to employees. For this reason, the licensee will need to ensure the implications are clearly communicated, including the effects this new system will have on employees and any claims they may make.

Voluntary licence revocation

Provision of information to be considered on a case-by-case basis depending on the reason for the revocation request.

A licensee can request a revocation of a self-insurance licence under the SRC Act at any time. Usually this is because a current licensed entity is being sold by a parent company or ceasing to operate. However, a licensee could also choose to exit the Comcare scheme voluntarily for commercial or other reasons.

Where this is the case, the SRCC expects that the licensee would engage comprehensively with its employees and their representatives as the revocation will substantively affect their workers' compensation arrangements for any future claims post revocation as well as changing those arrangements for any employees with injuries that occurred during the period of licence.

The SRCC would also expect a high level of engagement with the licensee in relation to the reason for the revocation being sought and the arrangements to be made for transitioning out of Comcare self-insurance arrangements.

Timing	Once the licensee's principal officer has formally decided to seek licence revocation, but before formal steps are taken to seek SRCC approval.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Reason for the revocation being sought</li> <li>Nature of the change (e.g. revocation due to sale)</li> <li>Likely timing, including likely date on which SRC Act arrangements will cease to apply (if that is the case)</li> <li>Explanation that there will be ongoing liability under the SRC Act for injuries arising out of employment during the life of the licence, even if a claim is made post-revocation</li> <li>Details of post-revocation claims management arrangements</li> <li>Details of prudential arrangements post-revocation, including the ongoing bank guarantee and powers of the SRCC to ensure that claims are managed in accordance with the SRC Act, and liabilities met</li> <li>Details of the process (including the fact the SRCC makes the final decision on the licence variation)</li> <li>Where alternative workers' compensation arrangements will apply following the revocation (if applicable)</li> </ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions affected by the revocation. The SRCC will be particularly concerned that current or former employees with current claims receive early and comprehensive advice on the implications for them.
Special considerations	The significance of the change may not be clear to employees. For this reason, the licensee will need to ensure the implications are clearly communicated, including the effect this revocation will have on employees and any claims they may make.

Licensee acquisition of another business or merger with another business

When a current licensee acquires a business, the SRCC's information provision requirements are directed towards employees of the business being acquired. These employees will need to be made aware of their new workers' compensation benefits and entitlements (if moving into the Comcare scheme from a State or Territory scheme), and the processes for making further enquiries or making claims.

Where an existing licensee is merging with another business or changing trading name, but remaining in the Comcare scheme, employees should be advised that their existing workers' compensation benefits and entitlements will continue unaffected, along with basic details of any changed claim management procedures (for example, new claims management team contact details).

Timing	Immediately on formal acquisition of the new business.
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Similar to the level and nature of information to be provided to new employees.</li><li>• Nature of the change</li><li>• Basic details of the Comcare scheme workers' compensation if employees are entering the scheme</li><li>• Assurance that the substantive rights and obligations under the SRC Act will not be affected if the change is a merger or identity change but the licence itself is not being varied</li></ul>
Provided to	All employees and relevant unions as well as state regulators in the business being acquired. Where the acquisition will result in significant changes for employees in the existing licensee, all existing employees and relevant unions should also be provided with the required information.
Special considerations	The significance of the change may not be clear to employees. For this reason, the licensee will need to ensure the implications are communicated clearly, including the effect this formal acquisition of a new business will have on employees and any claims they may make.

Licensee recruiting new employees

New employees should be provided with a basic outline of the Comcare scheme and the workers' compensation arrangements that apply to them when commencing their employment with the licensee. This should be a routine provision of information for all new employees engaged after the commencement of the SRC Act licence and would ideally be provided as part of an induction program.

Timing	As soon as possible after commencement of employment
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Basic details of the Comcare scheme workers' compensation arrangements</li><li>• Overview of coverage, key benefits and entitlements</li><li>• Brief explanation of self-insurance and how the employer's licensing arrangements work</li><li>• Contact details for further information within the employer</li><li>• Reference to Comcare and the SRCC websites for further information</li></ul>
Provided to	Every employee on engagement
Purpose	Standard part of the engagement and induction information process.

Reporting of audit performance by licensee

This activity is covered by the Licence Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM) and reported against the performance standards and measures.

Under the LCPM, the requirement for yearly auditing has been removed. However, licensees may choose to continue to use the audit tools as evidence of the maintenance of their management systems. In addition, the SRCC could direct that an audit or partial audit occur as part of a targeted response to specific performance issues or a particular SRCC focus.

While a licensee is not required to provide detailed information on audit responses to employees, it is important that employees are kept aware of key regulatory issues affecting the workers' compensation and WHS environments in their workplace and understand how they can provide feedback and engage with these processes if appropriate.

Timing	No specific timing prescribed (unless the SRCC addresses this as part of its engagement with the licensee in relation to the audit action)
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Will depend on the issue and nature of the audit, but as a general rule should include the following.</li> <li>• Key focus area(s) of the audit</li> <li>• Purpose (i.e. how the audit fits into the SRCC's oversight of the self-insurance arrangements)</li> <li>• Likely timing</li> <li>• Overview of what impact the audit will have on employees and the licensee's operations</li> </ul>
Provided to	Employees and employee representatives, particularly specific areas of the business that are to be affected by the audit.
Special considerations	The licensee should ensure an appropriate message is communicated and that employees clearly understand the purpose of the audit and whether they will be invited to provide feedback as part of the process. The licensee will also need to ensure appropriate privacy and other factors are taken into account in determining what level of information is to be provided.

Development of annual Licensee Compliance and Performance Improvement (LCPI) report

The information provided by the licensee as part of annual reporting should show evidence of employee engagement/ involvement. The annual LCPI report is a routine reporting mechanism for licensees to advise the SRCC on its performance against the requirements of the Licence Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM), and its overall improvements in key areas. Employees should be provided with an opportunity to comment on the overall performance of the licensee in meeting the LCPM to assist in providing the SRCC with greater depth in its understanding of the licensee's organisational climate.

Timing	As a routine annual component of developing the LCPI, prior to forwarding to the SRCC
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The general nature of the licensee's SRC Act arrangements</li> <li>• The nature of the SRCC's oversight as embodied in the LCPI process</li> <li>• A broad outline of key issues that have arisen over the reporting cycle</li> <li>• Key matters to be reported to the SRCC through the LCPI report, including the report's purpose and how the SRCC will make use of the report</li> <li>• Means by which employees can provided feedback if they wish to do so</li> </ul>
Provided to	All employees and employee representatives.
Special considerations/ purpose	Not a formal consultation process, but rather an opportunity for employees to provide feedback. Generally, this can be consolidated and reported at a broader level to the SRCC.

Regulatory responses at the direction of the SRCC

Covered by the Licence Compliance and Performance Model (LCPM) and reported through the annual Licensee Compliance and Performance Improvement (LCPI) report

Under the LCPM, regulatory responses will generally be targeted in response to specific performance issues or a particular SRCC focus. A licensee is not required to provide detailed information on these responses to employees; however, it is important that employees are kept aware of key regulatory issues affecting the workers' compensation and work health and safety environments in their workplace and understand how they can provide feedback and engage with these processes if appropriate.

Timing	On receipt of formal advice from the SRCC that a regulatory response is to occur (unless the SRCC addresses this specifically as part of its engagement with the licensee in relation to the action)
Information required to be provided	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Will depend on this issue and nature of the response, but as a general rule should include the following.</li><li>• Background to the regulatory response</li><li>• Purpose (i.e. how the response fits into the SRCC's oversight of the self-insurance arrangements)</li><li>• Likely timing and nature of the response</li><li>• Overview of what the impact the response will have on employees and the licensee's operations</li><li>• Means by which employees can provide feedback or ask questions if they wish to do so</li></ul>
Provided to	Employees and employee representatives, or specific areas of the business that are to be particularly affected by the response.
Special considerations	Employees must clearly understand why the SRCC is undertaking the response, the licensee's commitment to address the issue, and whether employees will be invited to provide feedback as part of the process. The licensee will also need to ensure appropriate privacy and other factors are taken into account in determining what level of information is to be provided.

Attachment L – Guidance – Licence condition on information recording, retrieval and reporting requirements

Background

- The condition of licence on information recording, retrieval and reporting requirements has been introduced following a legal review conducted by the SRCC, which identified a deficiency in the express information gathering and investigative powers of the SRCC.
- The SRCC considers this deficiency poses an unacceptable compliance risk to its enforcement activities.
- Consistent with the SRCC's consultation process and KPI 2.2 of the SRCC's Regulator Performance Framework measures, the SRCC consulted with licensees and affiliated unions on the draft new condition. Comment was sought and considered when finalising the new condition.
- The new condition builds on the existing licence condition under Information and reporting requirements and confers specific monitoring and investigative powers which are consistent with the powers of other regulators.

Basis for the condition

- As noted in Section 108D(h) of the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act), the SRCC in granting a licence, may make the licence subject to any condition it considers necessary to achieve the relevant objects of the SRC Act – this extends to setting conditions on the provision of information and notifications in respect of specified events.
- The proposed condition is necessary for the SRCC to fulfill its role as the issuing authority and regulator of self-insurance licences under the SRC Act (as set out in Division 2 – Powers of the SRCC in relation to licences). Specifically, in order for the SRCC to adequately investigate the compliance of licensees with the conditions of the licence or the Act, the SRCC must have express information gathering and investigative powers.
- Compulsory information-gathering powers are an important and necessary part of the work of regulators. Such powers enable regulators to obtain relevant information needed to make regulatory and enforcement decisions. ASIC, APRA and the ATO are examples of regulators who have similar and more stringent information-gathering powers.

What is covered by the condition?

- The SRCC makes its decisions and takes actions in relation to the granting and ongoing management of self-insurance licences under Part VIII of the SRC Act.
- The requirement applies to the SRCC's regulation of licensees under the SRC Act which includes management of claims, rehabilitation and prevention systems.

What is an accessible form?

- The retention of electronic versions is sufficient, there is no need to retain physical copies of documents.
- While the SRCC's preference is that documents are available in an electronic format, physical copies are acceptable.
- Note licensees may be required to keep records under other legislation.

What compliance requirements will be set out by the condition?

- The SRCC sets an express licence condition requiring licensees to retain records relating, directly or indirectly to its operations under its self-insurance licence.
- As the experts in their own business operation, the condition is drafted in such a way as to provide licensees with discretion in deciding what records will be retained to meet this requirement. It is expected that licensees will apply a risk-based, tailored approach that suits their operational requirements.

Can licensees outsource records management?

- While it may be appropriate to outsource responsibility of some records to third parties, licensees remain responsible for ensuring adequate records are maintained and available.
- One entity can manage and retain information on behalf of licensees within the group.

How does the condition operate in the context of other record keeping requirements?

- There are differing legislative requirements for record retention within Australia depending on the types of information required to be recorded – e.g. ATO, ASIC, APRA, superannuation and privacy related retention periods.
- Currently the Corporations Act requires financial records to be kept for seven years. It would be reasonable to keep the retention time frame standardised in line with company record requirements, rather than impose a separate and different burden. This condition is consistent with the Information Management Standard and the eight principles for Australian Government required by the Archives Act in relation to storage, preservation and time-frame for keeping records.
- The proposed condition is appropriate and consistent with similar compulsory information gathering requirements of other regulators such as the Australian Taxation Office, Australian Securities and Investments SRCC and Australian Prudential Regulation Authority.

Privacy, commercial in confidence and legal professional privilege considerations

- The SRCC remains committed to meeting the highest standards when collecting, storing, using and disclosing personal information and will continue to handle any personal information it receives in line with the SRCC Privacy Policy.
- Where information provided to the SRCC is confidential and is required to be treated as such, the licensee will need to explicitly mark the information as confidential for the attention of the SRCC.

Further information

- Licensees can discuss this condition with their Account Manager. Additionally, questions relating to this condition or any other aspect of self-insurance licences can be directed to Secretariat@comcare.gov.au.
